STONE LOOK COPING: A TRADITIONAL LOOK WITH A CUTTING-EDGE APPROACH

Waukesha, WI—Metal-Era Inc., the national leader of perimeter edge roofing systems, announces its innovative Stone Look Coping as a cost effective alternative to traditional masonry stone caps that are found on many high-profile and historical buildings.

The coping cover is provided in 4' 0" lengths, with custom sizes available. Concealed splice plates have a masonry-tooled joint look. Its unique spatter paint finish is available in a four standard colors (brown stone, cast stone, lime stone and sand stone). Custom finishes that match specific job requirements are also available. A standard 10 year finish warranty is available, and finish warranties up to 20 years are also available.

“Stone Look Coping has proved to be a popular solution for a number of projects,” says Metal-Era’s Chief Operating Officer, Tony Mallinger. “It is virtually impossible to tell the difference between Stone Look Coping and stone masonry, making it a great alternative.”
